

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to materials which absorb human body odor, or odors associated with humans, prevent production of human body odors, or odors associated with humans, and prevent the detection of human body odors, and odors associated with humans, by animals. The materials comprise polyester fibers and antimicrobial acetate fibers. The materials can be made into, for example, twill, fleece, jerseys and hunting garments, apparel, protective garments and hunting accessories made therefrom.

PRINTED IN U.S.A. BY QED